BORIS THE SPIDER

A Journal of Duplicitous Doings, Raw Power, and Naked Greed

"Oh, what a tangled web we weave
When first we practice to deceive."

---Sir Walter Scott---

Game Status

It's beginning to look like one or more of "Boris VI" and maybe "Boris VIII" are likely to set a DIP record for longest game. "Boris IX" is on schedule. "Boris VII" is beginning the shakedown to the Final Three, and Allah knows if that will go into infinite draw mode or not. "Inshullana" should finish next time. "Utnapishtim" will be with us for at least five issues. "Vengeance Is Mine" and "1835C" are just started and will take about two years. SILVERTON has passed the half-way point and Wordelmann, the clear leader, might be able to put it away in five or six months. MERCHANT OF VENUS has a l_o_n_g way to go before someone parlays his/her starting $120 into $2000. DUNE could end any turn, but we just got into the 4th of 15 possible. CIRCUS MAXIMUS is about 2/3rds done; it ought to finish in six or seven months. BRITANNIA has four to six issues left. MAGIC REALM has 21 issues left. Of the two STELLAR CONQUEST games still running, "Flesh Gordon" has but three or four movement turns left, and "Simon Wagstaff" has six or seven movement turns left and one production phase.

I'd normally be asking for players for "Boris X" about January as I like to keep the games about 3-4 DIP years apart, but I'm out of room to start another, and, frankly "IX" was supposed to start as "VI" drew (guessed wrong I did, as usual). I'll probably not start another HISTORY OF THE WORLD to replace "Inshullana" so that the badly needed MOV map can make at least bimonthly appearances. Perhaps a DIP or COLONIAL DIP game with a two-month deadline would work--six weeks to actually negotiate instead of the current frantic two.

I intend to reinsurgate the "On Deck" segment when we begin to get some room here, and will probably start from scratch. Qunar and Boyum, don't panic. You're first in line in case of an DIP NMR and will be in "Boris X" (whenever that happens) should you still wish it.

ALTERNATE ALERT: Paul Saunders has let his sub lapse, so anyone who would want to "inherit" the Grange position in "Utnapishtim", say so. You just might get it.

BORIS'S BULLETIN BOARD

THOUGHT FOR THE MONTH: The basic objective of warfare in the agricultural age was control of land, and in the industrial age the objective of warfare was to control industry. But in the information age the objective is to control perception. --Jerome C. Glenn 1870 is here and it's just as pretty as 1856. New concepts include an elastic ledge (one has to sell 2 or more shares to sink beneath it to the "real" ledge), payment of half dividends (stock price doesn't move), share price protection by the company Pres, bonus runs earned by reaching a destination city, and 12-trains. Not new, but interesting concepts include all RRs being able to lay two tiles every turn, delayed bridging of the Mississippi, 8-trains, and allowing one RR to go bankrupt.

BOOS & KUDOS

This month's Madame Bolduc Press Excellence Award goes to Kevin Wilson for his Imperial Times article in "Boris IX". Kevin wins an extra issue.

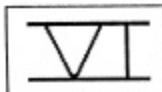

The Ms Nar SuperSuday Bomb is lobbed upon the Frylingus faction for exhausting Marcia Victoria's horses more than a lap too soon. Tek, folk! Bad form.

1994 AT

ERRATA: Germany still controls MOS.

MURKWOOD: The end may be soon for Italy, who saw two home centers occupied by enemies. MAR cannot be held against a joint Anglo-German effort and ROM is defended by only the overworked A TUS. A combined Turko-German push would be unstoppable. Not much less dire is the Russian position, surrounded by a hostile Germany and an opportunistic Turk. The redeployment of the German fleet may signal an offensive against Albion soon.

CLEARWINE: The Sultana appears to be the target of an AIR triple as the nascent Lepanto develops while Austria and the Tear connive to keep her contained. In the West, Germany is already seeing the fruits of the folly of allowing the Tear into SWE in the Fall but could profit from the growing tension between Britain and France over ENG.

EMBASSY BEAT

LONDON: The British people are prepared to defend the Empire on the shores to the last man from joint Franco-German aggression!

ROME: To kick off a new recruiting drive, the War Ministry announced the 1st Fleet would visit the sunny eastern Med; to show the flag, promote "The New Roman Empire, coming to a seaport near you!" and engage in some serious shopping in exotic ports of call.

Emperor of Italy to the Tear of Russia: As reported by the Tunie Tattler, a tabloid-type newspaper looked down-on by real newspapers that wouldn't stoop to report such ... what? ... um ... sorry ... uh ... great, first day reporting the news ...

Vienna to Moscow: Isn't it time A Galicia went home or visited someplace else. Galicia is nice, but you're wearing out your welcome. Just a friendly <emphasis> suggestion. -)

Vienna to Rome & Berlin: I don't think I took an opportunity to publicly welcome you to the game. Welcome!

BORIS WORLD PRESS REVIEW

Munich Muncher: Today a nice little restaurant opened on the Bundstrasse. The French Connection has started serving French cuisine despite the recent animosity between the two countries. However, the menu is evidently appealing as fricasseed frog legs and heated French buns are among the favorites. Serving only the best beer the restaurant also includes some French wines although they are not as robust as the Rhine wines stocked. The owner boasts that soon he will be able to obtain Bordeaux wines carried directly to Munich on efficient German trains. All in all, it is a dining pleasure in good company. Try it!

Vienna Imperial Times: A great sigh of relief was heard in the Palace this season as no changes in the Cabinet were reported. (Local undertakers were reportedly disappointed, but hope for better seasons in the future). Archduke Kevin was reportedly satisfied with the Foreign Ministry's efforts on the Italian border as peace appears to have been accomplished (or at least the lack of war). The General Staff reported successes in the Balkans against the heathen Turks. Casualty reports were high (for the Turks).

Washington Star: Rumored overheard at the main Roman central switchboard: "Hoo-boy, Really!! A Turkey dinner at your beachfront abode, brother! Yes! The Mrs and I will be there toot-sweet! Ah, should I mention this to the Pope?"

Achtung! John Bullitt has proposed that the House Rules be amended so that instead of having to order a dividend, it is paid automatically. This would change the present condition, to wit: if you don't include some sort of order to "pay dividend", the dividends are withheld. As one might suspect, John tends to forget to order dividends.

Although it would probably save me some grief, BORIS recommends a vote of "NAY" for several reasons:

1. This is the standard pbm rule.
2. The rule was probably so written to make casual NMRing so costly that players would pay attention to the game and deadlines.
3. A secondary reason for the rule was to energize VPs to send back up orders for harried Presidents/Directors. This involves those without corporations, engaging their interest and keeping them from NMRing.
4. Not to order dividends when you mean to be sloppy play. Sloppy play should be punished by the system (i.e., tough rule in chess).
5. RRs that forget to pay dividends will find fewer investors (like real life). This could lend itself to a psychological campaign (in 1835 at least) to have the other owners divest their shares to facilitate a cheap complete take over or nationalization. On the other hand, Director's with a reputation for forgetfulness, will find it harder to get help floating RRs (see #4).

Turn 8.1-9.1

ERRATA: Little Fuzzy could not pick up the fare are leaving without spending a whole turn there. Tyrone used the same path going two different ways when moving from Rerie to Rerie, which is illegal, so that portion of the move is cancelled and the Airfall has been returned to the pool of undrawn "?" and been replaced. Would it work better if we began the turn with trading? By the way, Tyrone is now "Equina".

Emperor Takes Arrakeen!

TURN 3/4

ERRATA: Bryden pointed out that E shipped 5T to the Shield Wall on Turn 2, a fact not noted in the board summaries until now. This means he could only ship 10T & 5* into Arrakeen, which saves 3S in shipping.

BENE GESSERIT (Deb Osborne): 2C, 4S, 2T @ Arrakeen, Habbanya Ridge Sitch & Tuck's Sitch; 1T @ Carthag, Polar Sink, Shield Wall.

TURN 3:

- Combat: A (@ 7T) vs E (10T, 5*) at Arrakeen. A presences that E will play a projectile weapon, then plays "Cheap Hero", OS and dials 7 (illegal, GM reduces to 3.5). E plays Bashar, "Bliptip", "Kulon", 9S and dials 12.5. E wins battle 14.5:3.5. A loses all involved, but gains the Kwitzsch Haderach counter. E loses 7T & 3* to tanks and discards "Kulon".
- Spice Collection: G plays "Truthtrance" on H and asks, "Do you have any Guild leaders in your pay?" H replies, "Yes." E collects 2S for Arrakeen. A gets 6S from Rock Outcroppings. H collects 2S for Carthag and 8S from Cielago North. G gets 1S from Tuck's Sitch.

TURN 4:

- The Storm moves to Sector 17, killing 3 Atreides T in Rock Outcroppings in passing. The next Storm chit is _____.
- Spice blows occur at Red Chasm and Cielago South (12) but not before Shah-Hulud appears at Cielago North (-4H). We have another Nexus! The next Spice card is _____.
- Bidding: B collects 2S CHOAM charity. There are five cards up for bid. They are _____ & _____.

Due next time are orders covering the Nexus and Turn 4 Bidding to Turn 5 Spice Blow. We will of course halt the action for any combat.
